

BRIAN E. CORLEY

SUPERVISOR OF ELECTIONS, PASCO COUNTY

2024 PRESIDENTIAL PREFERENCE PRIMARY RECAP

With the election certification and audit complete, the first of four elections in 2024 is officially in the books for Pasco County. Overall, the Presidential Preference Primary was a very smooth election, although the turnout was lower than previous election cycles. With only one candidate remaining in the race for US President and Florida's primary after Super Tuesday, we saw only 31,472 votes cast which equates to nearly 20% of registered Republicans who participated in this election.

A very special thanks to all our amazing election workers who made it happen, and thanks to those who voted!

We now turn our attention to six municipal elections on April 9th. Per Florida law, my office conducts the elections for the cities of Dade City, New Port Richey, Zephyrhills, San Antonio, Port Richey, and the town of St. Leo.

Once we wrap up the six municipal elections next week, we will begin preparing for candidate qualifying followed by the Primary Election on August 20th, and the General Election on November 5th.

To better prepare for the upcoming elections, visit our website to verify your address is up to date, view your sample ballot, and research candidates and initiatives beforehand. Also, familiarize yourself with the three ways to vote: Election Day, Early Voting, or Vote by Mail. Visit PascoVotes.gov for additional information.
